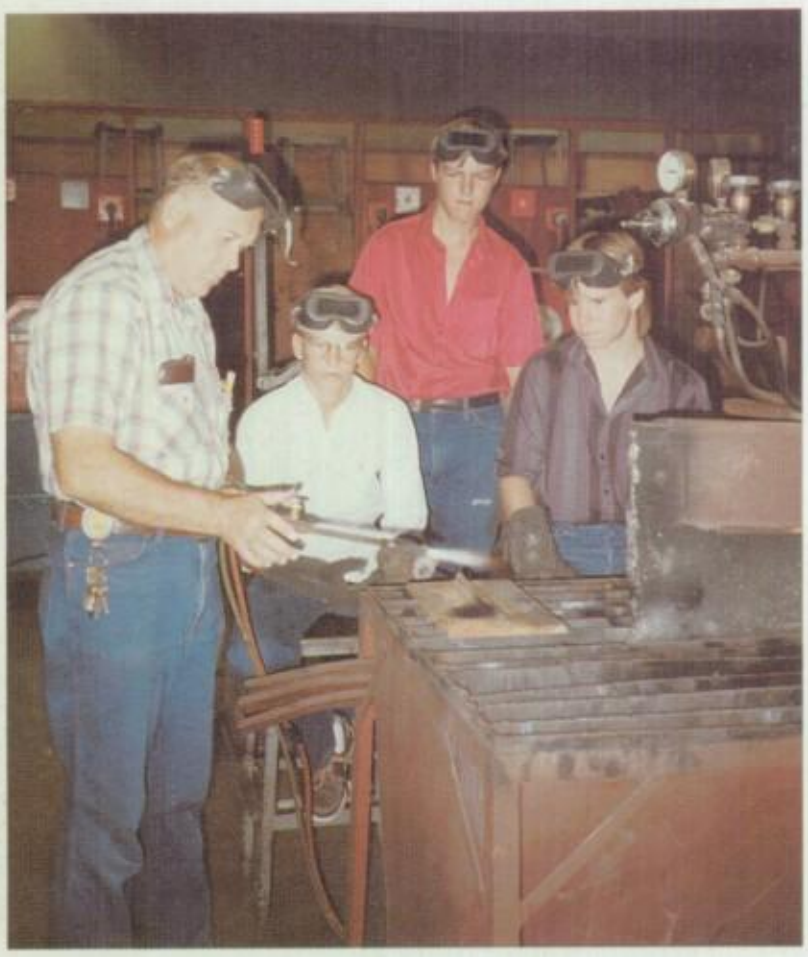
LEGEND



Dedication Goes To Favorite Four

The 1985-86 Chieftain staff honors four staff members who have contributed greatly to the excellence that has become a standard at Westwood.

"Big Al" Arbizu came to Westwood in 1974. Since then he has received many letters of commendation for his security enforcement. He is a sought-after crowd control expert in the school district, but what most of us remember about Al is his booming, bigger-than-life laughter and his constant willingness to assist students and staff whenever a problem arises. He has made the Westwood campus a safer, more pleasant one for all of us.

Mrs. Bette Anderson has taught English at Westwood for the past 16 years. During those years she has become one of the most liked people at Westwood by both staff and students. One of her colleagues attributed her success to "her devilish sense of humor". Mrs. Anderson has helped students in all phases of the English curriculum from Principles of English I to Children's Literature to College Prep Writing. In her personality and in her classroom Mrs. Anderson is truly one of Westwood's outstanding teachers.

"Students don't care how much you know after they know how much you care" could easily have been coined by Westwood's vocational agriculture department chairman Leo C. Peterson. Mr. Peterson began Westwood's agriculture department in 1962 as a branch of Mesa High's program. Since that time Mr. Peterson has developed the agriculture program into the finest in the state. Described by his students as a "supportive teacher who makes learning fun," Mr. Peterson is a favorite with all of his students.

Sally Bixby Sturdevant is the perfect Warrior. As a staff member she is loyal, cheerful, helpful, caring and sharing. As a teacher, she is a perfect model. She does aerobics with her students each day. One of her students remarked "Mrs. Sturdevant will live forever and never grow old." As warriorette sponsor, She has strong rules and expectations of the line and the successful performances that result from her discipline give the girls affection for their teacher. Westwood loves Mrs. Sturdevant as she loves Westwood.

Opening Assemblies Generate Enthusiasm

The "Hello" assembly was a phenominal success. Student Council put on a humorous and somewhat dramatic skit trying to satirize what every sophomore goes through before his first dance at Westwood. The spirit ambassadors delighted the student body and faculty by presenting awards won during spirit camp over the summer. The football team was introduced and gave an enthusiastic "War Eagle" yell which undoubtedly put the crowd in a frenzy!

The "Curtain Time" assembly proved once again that Westwood has extraordinary talent in every aspect of the entertainment field. That incredible band "Turn of the Century" rocked Shepherd Auditorium to an almost unconcious state of being! "The Fat Boys" rapped and ate their way into the hearts of sophomores and pudgy people everywhere. Lori Box expressed her undying love for an unknown hunk, while perched delicately upon the golden crescent above the stage. The Honor choir sang "I Can't Fight this Feeling" with such emotion that everyone in the audience remembered his first love.

Take Five

Fall brought the excitement of school spirit and the thrill of not having to eat lunch at home everyday. Many adjusted to both these excitations by eating in the spanking new "Chieftain Chow Palace." The construction was completed in 1984, but the finishing touches were barely finished when the school year started. The colorful, graphic wall mural was designed to display Westwood's tradition of excellence in every field. Students feasting in the cafeteria also enjoyed a bit of culture in Westwood's art museum. Still others preferred dining at such places as MacDonald's, Jack in the Box and Burger King. Regardless, all students enjoyed the precious fourty-two minute lunch break.

Everyone looked forward to the weekend breaks in the fall of 1985. Many participated in school functions. Spirit reached an all-time high as students wore blue and orange, bought spirit buttons, and released balloons at the football games. Attendance at school dances soared to record-breaking level. Students enjoyed every break from their rigorous studies.

Homecoming '85 Memorable For All

As six red, white, and blue convertible Mustangs paraded around the track carrying the Homecoming royalty nominees, anticipation mounted in the stands. Over 8000 fans had come to see the undefeated Warriors take on the top-ranked McClintock Chargers. Now they eagerly awaited the announcement of the 1985-86 Homecoming King and Queen. The bleachers erupted in shouts and cheers of excitement as the names, Rodney Bonner and Nicole Phelps, echoed through the stadium.

The Marching Band and the Warriorettes added to the romantic atmosphere of Homecoming by performing "For Your Eyes Only," featuring trumpet soloist, Ward Chapman, and director, Dan Shindele. Band alumni joined in on their second number, "Boogie Down." A few Warriorette and cheerleading alumni led cheers to boost Westwood spirit.

This year's Homecoming floats were outstanding. Taking first place, the junior class proudly displayed an eagle, a warrior head dress, and the Statue of Liberty, in front of the American flag, depicting the theme, "America's Dream is Westwood's Future." The senior float captured second place with a colorful, surfing Gumby, showing everyone how to "Carch the Spirit." Coming in third place, the sophomores used a giant clock to illustrate the theme, "The Best of Times." All aspects of Homecoming '85 were superb, and will be remembered by senior, junior, and sophie Warriors alike.

Material World

Once again the Warriors dressed out for the new school year in the latest fashions. From their Guess jeans to their Swatch watches to their Vaurnet sunglasses, the Warriors were clothed in the very best Diamond's, Goldwater's and Bullock's had to offer. One fashion of the late sixties and early seventies that made its return was plaid pants. From the traditional Scottish plaid to psychedelic yellow and green plaid, this style certainly made a comeback. Men's tanks proved a hot item. A cool tank under a shaker knit sweater or a T-shirt dress provided for a casual yet fashionable look for women also. Stirrup pants made a successful debut this year as did Coca-Cola's new line of sports-wear. Another trend to hit the clothes racks was the big floral print dresses like the one grandma used to wear. Letterman sweaters with a person's favorite designer's initial on the side pocket were also popular. As far as tennis shoes go, many Warriors traded their Nike swoosh for Reebok's new looks. Accessories included rubber bracelets and dangling earrings. Anyone who happened to miss these styles can catch on to next year's fashions.

FRENCH FOR PLEASURE

I Never Saw Another Butterfly

Death! Suffering! Tears! Hope! Mr. Jay Dean Jones directed Westwood's version of "I Never Saw Another Butterfly". The Westwood performing arts department and drama division presented the play on November 20 and 21, 1985.

The play was based on the book with the same name. "I Never Saw Another Butterfly" is part of a collection of the Holocaust drawings and poems of the children of the concentration camps.

This play is one of the most "serious" productions that Westwood has ever performed. "We must know and study history or we are bound to repeat it." Mr. Jones states.

"I Never Saw Another Butterfly", showed great acting ability. The players displayed the hardships, pain, and separation of the Jews. The actors showed exhilarating techniques to put this play in the top ten of our schools history. The play exhibited and helped to understand the way the Jews were treated and, through superb acting, it touched the audience with deep emotion. Whitney Richards states, "The impact of the play encouraged us to read books about the Holocaust and let us understand more about it." Good Work! Encore Westwood Drama department!

Students Examine And Discuss Value Of Carrying On Tradition

Tradition - lets define the word - the act of following suit over a number of years. When we look at the word tradition, we must also take a good look at Westwood. Over the years many of the faculty have seen numerous traditions come and go, but they have also seen many of them end. We wonder if keeping them around is worth it, because not a lot of people want to participate in them. For example, all the crazy things that classes do for the Natani Award, everyone says they're willing to participate, yet when the time comes around how many people really do? Perhaps there will be a new tradition starting, that being Powder Puff Football. Hopefully we can not only start that as a tradition but keep all the others going as well. And for all of you who do participate in the games, "Keep up the good work." And for everyone else who wonders if they should get involved, I say "Go for it!" It's a lot of fun.

Kathy Smith

Why do we have tradition? Because a long time ago the student council thought of some fun ways to promote school spirit through class competition. The ideas, such as lawn projects, Wahoo Pahu, and class plays, were enjoyed greatly by the first group of Warriors who participated in them. Since they were so successful the first time, the student council decided to use the same ideas the following year. The Warriors still liked them. Thus the traditions of Westwood evolved. Unfortunately, these traditions are no longer liked by the Warriors. They don't inspire school spirit anymore either because only a small percentage of each class participates in these activities. This is not to say that this generation of Warriors doesn't do anything to promote school spirit, they just show their spirit in different ways. For example, they decorate their cars and parade to away football games. So while it is time to throw out some old traditions it is also time to recognize the new ones that are emerging.

Susan Lowe

Tradition or no tradition, that may be the question of the future. A tradition by dictionary definition is: handing down of customs, opinions, stories, etc . . . Westwood has had a long line of traditions ranging from plays to ditch days.

Let's specify. School class plays have not gotten worse but instead more modern. The scenery may not be as elaborate as in the past but the dialogue sure is. All assemblies have been cut down to five or six. How can we, the students, be traditional when the administration cuts down assemblies? Wacky track meets and swim meets, Nacawatchem and Wah Hoo Pah Hoo respectively named, haven't been attended because the fun and advertising hasn't been up to par. Senior Ditch Day, well that's a tradition being kept up by the senior class for years to come.

Tom Wade Penni Pingel
A.J. Sandlin
Rich Fleherty

We feel that the traditions are going down because of the way they are treated. For example, the plays are now being performed after school. Not as many people are going to be interested in them. The school spirit has also gone down from lack of pep assemblies. One of the most missed traditions that has caused a lot of bitter feelings is the removal of Senior Ditch Day. The seniors deserve it!

Julie Strain
Pamela Trone

Traditions are born and traditions die. The spirit of traditions, found in events like Na Kwachim and Wahoo Pahu, has faded. However, modern traditions are being built with Westwood's outstanding football record during the past two seasons, the girl's powder puff football game, and the far superior class plays that the class of '86 has produced. Some traditions remain strong. The FFA, band and orchestra programs, as well as swim, track and cross country teams, have always been formidable opponents at state and national competitions. And of course, what senior would forget Mr. Stehr's and Mr. Wells's traditional, humorless jokes that were told from the beginning to the end of every semester? As students, we'll always remember such traditions.

Wayne Manske

Sophomore plays, Wahu Pahu, Na Kwachim . . . What the?!? Westwood traditions! What are you talking about? Where did they come from? Why are they dying? Maybe if it were well-known what they were, they wouldn't be so soon forgotten. These events that our Westwood pioneers established need not be foresaken. It starts with here and now. The new sophomores need to be introduced to these traditions which recent graduates and students have failed to carry on. For if the present cannot continue school pride, then the future has no past.

Valorie S Farnsworth

I think it's about time to change or "update" some of Westwood's great traditions. Some of the things that we participate in now are slowly going out of style. We need some sort of activity or activities that are fun to do today. Although I have no suggestions, I think we should have a poll go around campus and see what the students would like to do. Some of our "traditions" were fun (back in the 60s and 70s), but this is the 80s and a whole new generation. We need something new.

Powder Puff Is Back; Junior Girls Take Kudos

The tension mounts as the players take the field. As the crowd yells and the cheerleaders rah, Brimhall Field hosts a football game in February.

Obviously this was no ordinary football game. For the first time since 1964, the Westwood Warrior women displayed their athletic ability in the form of a Powder Puff football game. This rare event even merited coverage by the Mesa Tribune.

The sophomore junior, and senior ladies squared off under enthusiastic leadership. The senior team, captained by Karla Sorensen, trained hard but unfortunately finished their overall. "We may not have won, but we gave it our all and had a lot of fun," exclaimed Krystn Dale, senior team member.

Heidi Bagley led the sophomore team to a hard-fought tie with the senior girls with a score of 6 to 6. The seniors went on to challenge the juniors in a playoff game but fell short with a score of 0 to 6.

The championship round was played by the juniors and sophomores. Captain Stephanie Birch led her junior team to a respectable 14-6 victory over the sophomores.

This wacky, role-reversal football game, complete with male cheerleaders will not be soon forgotten in the minds of the lady Warriors of Westwood.

We train our minds and bodies

To perform, to move,

Focusing on improvement,

Shaping our mental attitude.

We over-exert, straining outselves,

Pushing beyond the limit of tolerance.

Trying to ignore praise and pain,

Concentrating on sharpening our ability,

We look toward the next opportunity,

The next chance to prove our worth, to shine,

When we'll once again be . . .

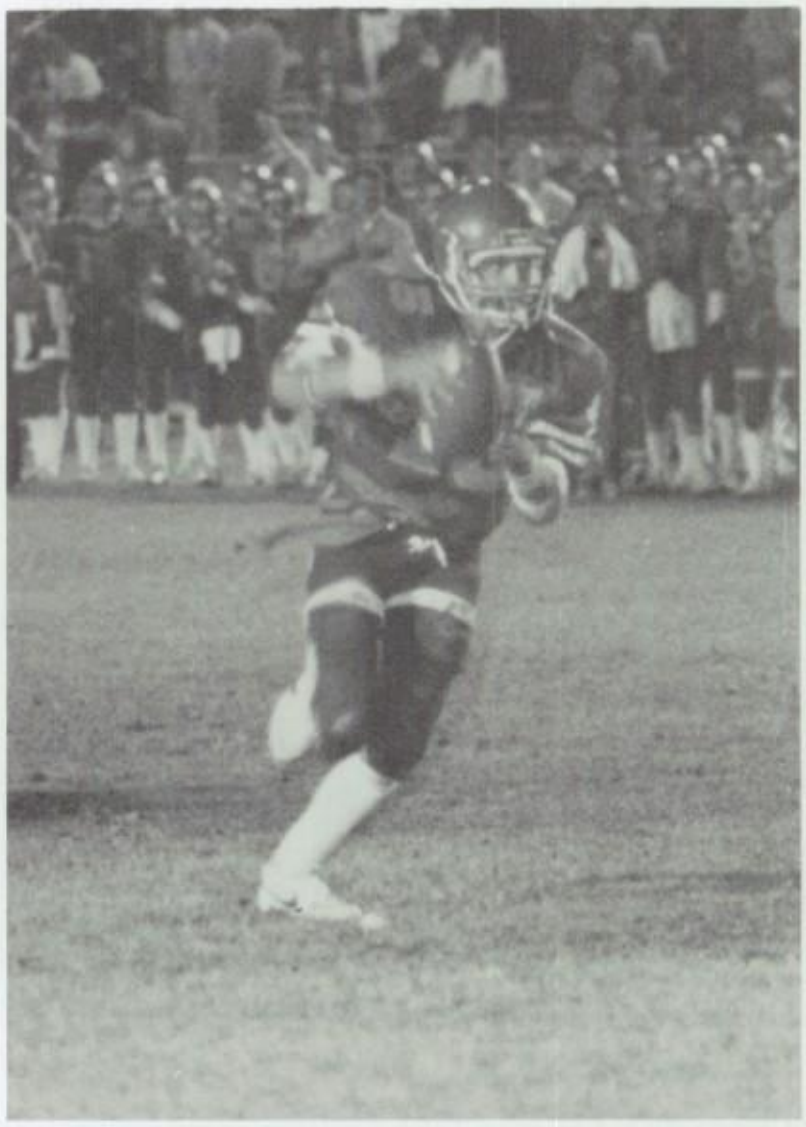
Westwood Varsity Football Team Reaches Play-Offs



The varsity football team was completely unstoppable this season. The Warriors were able to overcome almost any obstacle placed before them. The men finished the regular season with an 8-2 record. This was good enough to earn the team a birth in post-season play-offs. The Warriors eliminated the Mountain View Toros in the first round by a score of 19-6. This was also the only season in which the Toros were beaten by the same team twice. Consequently, 1985-86 will go down in the record books as a very historic year for the Warriors.

Although Westwood was taken out of the play-off race by a close loss to Sahuaro High School of Tucson, the players can still be very proud of the fact they made it to the final eight best teams in the state. One of the outstanding players this year was Senior Doug Lewis, who was named the team's leading rusher. Junior Rick Flaherty earned his call to fame by playing quarterback and any other position the coach wanted him to play. Senior Jody Sprietsma contributed an enormous amount of skill and power to the defensive line.

Three players were named to the East Valley League Team. They were Rodney Bonner, Brent Leavitt, and Dale Noble. Rodney had his best game against Sahuaro. He stole two interceptions and also completed a 66 yd. touchdown run. The future looks bright for the Warriors. Led by many talented Juniors, the Warriors will surely triumph once again.

The Junior Varsity Team Completes A Great Season.

Destroy is a word that best describes the Junior Varsity Football team. They dominated the other teams by having five shut outs, and only came short once for a record of 7-1. They were winners in every aspect of the word with sophomores Sean Stapley and Chris DeLaFuente leading the pack. Their efforts were unbeatable. They had grueling hours of practice to prove their ability, disappointing no one. The special young talents of this team, combined with the varsity, should next year provide for the Warriors a team of immeasurable glory. Coach Jolly was proud of his players as they strived to be nothing but winners the whole season. Their spirits were always kept high as they marched on to victory. Success is what the boys were shooting for and through great coaching, excellent talent, and hard work that is what they achieved.

Junior Blues team demonstrated the effort it takes to be a winner by working hard day after day. They proved to have the Warrior pride, confidence, and spirit kept high even though the record was 3-5. They had the team work and cooperation to stand above all others as they never gave up throughout a game, or the entire season. The coaches were proud of the team as they accomplished together something extremely important- unity.

Lance Crawford is congratulated with a pat on the back from Coach Palmer after making an extremely exceptional tackle in an outstanding game of the JV season.

Boys'/Girls' Swim Teams Reach New Heights This Season

The Boys' and Girls' Swim teams contributed their maximum efforts to complete a successful season. The boys carried on their excellent swimming tradition, while the girls maintained their winning ways.

The boys accomplished a predicted undefeated season. Their only setback was at the Mesa Elks Relay Meet when they tied for the first place position with perennial rivals, the Dobson Mustangs. Year after year, the male swim program at Westwood is a success, and Coach Craig Cummins is one of the reasons why. He plans strenuous work-outs and spends long hours with the team to form talented athletes like superstars Tom Wade, Chris Jantz, Jason Anderson, Eric Niebch, and newcomer, Joel Colmar. The Warriors proved to be one of the toughest teams around by placing second to Brophy Prep at the state meet in Tucson. .

Like last year, the key to the girls' wins was their depth. Of course they had a few first place contenders, but the second through fifth places the ladies acquired meant valuable points. The season ended with a boastful 7-1 record, a runner-up honor at the city meet, and a third place finish in the division. This year, Westwood qualified six girls at state compared to last year's one. Those six girls were: Anne DeJong, Kim Blankenburg, Marcy Jacobs, Kristin McQuitty, Meg Rich, and Maria Talamante, who combined efforts to take the number nine spot in the state out of a field of 43 teams. With such a young team, the ladies hope to occupy one of the top five slots at next year's state meet.

Numkeng, Miller Lead Pack To State Honors

The 1985-86 school year proved to be a very successful one for our two varsity cross country teams. The girls finished their regular season with an undefeated record. The leading runners for the Warriors were Kelly Miller, Diane Heywood, and Wendi Legg. In addition to a tremendous season the girls captured the Central Region Division Championship, 1st place at the Benson Invititional, Runner-Up at the Prescott Invitational, and also attained a 3rd place position at the state meet. Medalists at the state contest were Diane Heywood, who placed 20th overall and Kelly Miller, who placed 7th and was named to the All-State team.

Not only were the women successful, but the guys were also very impressive. Top runners for Westwood were Junior Duane Numkena, Junior Trevan Housholder, and Junior Jean-Pierre Thompson. Thanks go to these underclassmen for leading the team to and unbelievable 11-0 record. The boys captured the city title, 1st place in the Central Division I, 2nd place at the Prescott Invitational, 2nd place at the Benson Invitational, 3rd place at the Doug Conley Invitational, and 4th place at the State Meet. Four members placed in the meet. They are as follows: Chris Schurz, 4th as a Freshmen; Duane Numkens, 15th as a Junior; Jean-Pierre Thompson, 37th as a junior; and Will Cramer, 45th as a Senior.

Congratulations go out to all of those who participated.

Volleyball Team Has A Tough Time Throughout Season

Next Year Looks Promising

This years volleyball team proved themselves to be one of great potential. Though the girls may not have won all of their matches, their enthusiastic spirit remained strong and unbroken. The season was a long one, but never once did the girls think of giving up. They always did their best and kept trying. Every match was filled with hard work and determination; the girls never lost without putting up a good fight. In essence, the team never really lost.

Fortunately, there were no major injuries throughout the season. Although, on of the starting setters, Laura Johnson, pulled a muscle in her back. As a result, she was unable to participate for two weeks.

Lisa Denham received the most valuable player award. Ruth Hammond was named the teams most improved player. Special congratulations go to Lisa Danham and Ann Tjaarda because the both qualified for the Central Division I All-Star team with honorable mentions.

Gretchen Rowe, varsity coach, stated, "I am looking for a strong team next year, because the girls will have the experience needed, and the best group of Sophomores will be moving up." Rowe is to be commended for the hard work and long hours that she gave to the girls. Without the support she offered, the accomplishments of the team may not have occurred.

Woelkers Leads Team To Super, Fantastic Season

Winning, that's the name of the game, and Coach Yollie Munoz really took that word to heart when she first met her group of eager of badminton players in early August. After just a few short weeks of instruction Kirsten Woelkers forget to the lead and proved to be the dominating force which ultimately lead the team to a dramatic 9-3 record.

Kristen herself was never defeated throughout the season-she took 2nd in the divisional singles meet and captured 3rd in the state. Tammy Bougard and Audry Hicks were two other ladies who managed to keep the team in the win column.

The Junior Varsity not to be out done also had a victorious season. Kristen Nielson provided the spark that lit the fire which caused the young team to burn their way to a fantastic 10-2 record. With records like these Coach Munoz can see nothing but victories in the future. She is eagerly awaiting next year's team.

The Westwood Warrior basketball team had a terrific season despite ending on a sour note. Westwood made it to the state semifinals at ASU only to lose to undefeated Brophy Prep, 52-47.

The success of the team started in Tucson where they finished second in the Aztec Invitational Christmas Tournament. The Warriors later entered the state tournament by finishing second in the Central Division.

The varsity squad relied on their big men. Center Shawn Hamilton averaged over 15 points a game, while forwards Curt Keesler and Marc Menden averaged just less than 10. Junior guards Kevin Meyer and Karl Huish brought the ball up the court with poise. Tremendous play from the bench by Dennis Tingey also helped the Warriors.

In JV action, the Warriors bounced to a 16-3 record. Strong play from Kyle Johnson and Richard Johnston kept the ball in the hoop for Westwood.

Superior Golf Team Swings The Ball Into Action

The 1985 golf season was the most successful Westwood has had in the past several years. Contributing to this success were four seniors, Mark Bebko, Mike Del Col, Tony Korman and Ryan Talamante. Mark, Mike and Tony were all returning varsity lettermen from last year and were the foundation for this year's team. Their steady consistent play established a strong team base. The remainder of this year's team consisted of two juniors, John Lundbohm and Rob Petrie, and four sophomores Blair Nicholas, Craig Nicholas, Larry Pughe and Jason Yocum. "Managers-of-the-Year", were Ron Brumley and Todd Bennett.

A few highlights for this year's team are Mark Bebko being match medalist in eight of our thirteen matches with a season average of two over par; Mike Del Col's hole-in-one on the fourth hole at Dobson Ranch during our Mesa City match, and placing sixth out of 18 teams at the divisional match.

Generally speaking, the 1985 golf season has been very enjoyable and successful. Westwood will miss this year's seniors but look forward to another good season next year.

Soccer Seniors Say Sayonara

Soccer at Westwood is building for the future. The varsity Warriors finished the 85-86 season with an overall winning record of 6-5-1, and a winning league record of 3-2-1. A play-off spot was missed by a scant number of points, and despite some early injuries and sickness, the team held strong.

Four seniors that are finishing their soccer careers this season have contributed greatly to the team's success. They are: Mike Hustad, Dave Mitchell, Andrew Vieane, and Ward Chapman. We wish you all the very best in your futures.

Until next year the Westwood Warrior Varsity Soccer team intends to "keep in mind their goals," and looks forward to continued enhanced support from all of Westwood.

The junior varsity team also finished the season strong this year with four wins and two losses since Christmas break.

Westwood Warriors Wrestle Their Way To The Top

Long, hard workouts, dedication, and heavy concentration are all part of the sport of wrestling. With tough competition, the team had its ups and downs but the members always gave it their best shot and tried their hardest.

The team started the season coming in second place in the Apollo Tournament. They went on to compete in the East Side Tournament and then the Winslow Tournament in which they placed 5th, but they were only a few points away from bringing home a trophy. Divisionals were held February 13th and 14th. They wrestled well and went on to compete in the State Championships on February 21st and 22nd. Last year the team placed 12th in the state competition and this year their goal was to place in the top 10.

Leading the team were seniors Eric Connolly and Herman Bernal. Randy Wondrash and Justin Rutherford were strong juniors this year and will lead the team next year as seniors.

Coach Montalvo commented, "We made a big improvement over last year. The team, overall, will be looking forward to the state championships next year; as we will have a good number of seniors and we should be tough and determined contenders."

Girls Softball Begins To Build Dynasty

Every coach knows that to build a dynasty a foundation must first be laid. This year the girl's softball team began to lay a foundation for a strong Westwood softball program. However, a foundation may take some sacrifices and frustrations. The Varsity team spent many hours on the practice field sharpening up their skills. Unfortunately, their record did not reflect their effort. Nevertheless, behind the strong play of centerfielder Tammy Bogard and the pitching duo of sisters Marina and Andrea Magallanez, the girls had their share of great games.

This year, to lay a foundation, the strength of the softball program was vested in the Junior Varsity. The girls ended their season with a remarkable 13-2 record. Coach Jim Jones could only praise the talent of these ballplayers. "It's the best team I've ever had in my five years at Westwood," reported Coach Jones. The speed and agility of Heidi Bagley was extremely important to the success of the team. The girls will move next year into the ranks of the Varsity and will play with the returning juniors. Coach Jones and Coach Thomas have every belief that these girls will put up a strong fight for the state championship. Good luck!

Shooting for the stars.

Warrior And Marching Bands Have Triumphant Season

There are many successful groups on campus, but two were especially successful this year. They are the Westwood Warrior Marching Band and Warrior Concert Band. Each of these groups aspired for excellence in everything they did. Among these were performances at football games, concerts, and festivals.

Once again, the Marching Band succeeded in maintaining an excellent standing among other bands in the state with its dazzling half-time performances. In addition, the group was one of five Arizona bands to receive a superior rating at Northern Arizona University Band Day. This was the second consecutive year that the band has attained this ranking.

Under the direction of junior Drum Major Karl Huish and a small, intimate group of competent Seniors, the members were able to accomplish many great feats. One of these was teaching band members the difference between their left feet and their right ones.

The Warrior Concert Band displayed great talent and showmanship during its numerous appearances. The Christmas concert delighted many. A special number with a narration by Mr. Kim Thompson added an extra special touch to the gala event.

The group not only performed, but also became a close-knit group sharing a common goal — perfection. All in all, the year was memorable for all. For many of the seniors it was the last time that they would ever participate in this type of organization.

Apache, Jazz Bands Excel Involvement Is The Key

Throughout Arizona Westwood's music program is recognized as one of the most outstanding. One reason Westwood's program stands out far above the others is the diversity of the programs offered. Another reason is there is a place for everyone to excel. Westwood's Apache Band is evidence of these two factors at work. Although the members of this band are not as technically advanced as the members of the Warrior Band, they contribute to the spirit WW is known for. By participating in the Marching Band, Apache Band members helped cheer the mighty Warrior football team on to victory. Their support in the Pep Band during the basketball season rallied the players to score. In addition to promoting school spirit, Apache Band members exibited their musical talents by giving evening concerts for the school and community. The Apache Band truly played a part in the 1985-86 school year.

The other band that exemplifies Westwood's commitment to musical diversity is the Jazz Band. Through the use of saxophones, trumpets, drums, and electric guitar, the Jazz Band plays music all year long. Jazz Band members create their own solos to play during a performance. The solos reflect the musican's mood, artistic intepretation, and musical style.

Singing Free

Throughout the 1985-86 school year Westwoods Honor Choir entertained students, citizens, and civic organizations.

In the last few years, the Westwood Choral department has excelled above others in the state. They have consistently placed more singers in the Regional and State Choirs than the majority of the other Arizona High Schools.

The Honor Choir, though hours of hard work, the few, the proud, and the elite were selected for State and Regionals. The work consisted of solos, ensembles, and sight reading. Styles of this group consisted of classical, soft romantic, contemporary pop and jazz.

The spirit of music will live forever. The more people sing and create new music the better the society will prosper. The enthusiasm in this Coir will live forever. Westwood Honor Choir, is added to Westwoods success.

The concert choir is known for their singing expertesse here on Westwood campus and throughout the city.

They participate in many concerts throughout the year and in area festivals; one of many concerts they performed in was the Christmas Canticle in Carols, with the honor choir.

The Concert Choir is made up of sophomores, juniors and seniors. Many of these students have participated in the Regional All-state festival of the State Solo and Ensemble Festival.

The underclassmen in Concert Choir strive to improve their singing techniques and music reading skills so that they can qualify for qualify for placement in the select ensemble such as honor choir and the Cantore di-Madrigalis.

The concert choir is open to any Westwood student desiring to participate in the choral music program at Westwood.

Symphony Orchestra Stays On Top, Performs Brilliantly

Westwood's orchestral performing groups had a year full of excitement and brilliant performances. Under the superb direction of Mr. Kim Thompson, Symphony Orchestra, Concert Orchestra, and Showcase Strings developed into professional-sounding musical groups. The orchestras presented a series of thematic concerts including "City Lights," "An Italian Festival," and a President's Day extravaganza. Soloists, selected by audition, were featured on each concert.

Throughout the year instrumentalists participated in fund raisers to aid in financing their spring trip to California. Showcase members worked particularly hard collecting funds for their European tour. The financial projects and special events were organized by the orchestra council and parents' booster association.

To the surprise and delight of students and parents, Concert Orchestra functioned for the first time as a full symphonic orchestra, successfully adding wind, brass, and percussion to the strings. Westwood's Music Department was the first and only Mesa school to have two large groups of this kind. Taking that into consideration, the Mesa School Board approved the construction of a new music building for the deserving and talented musicians.

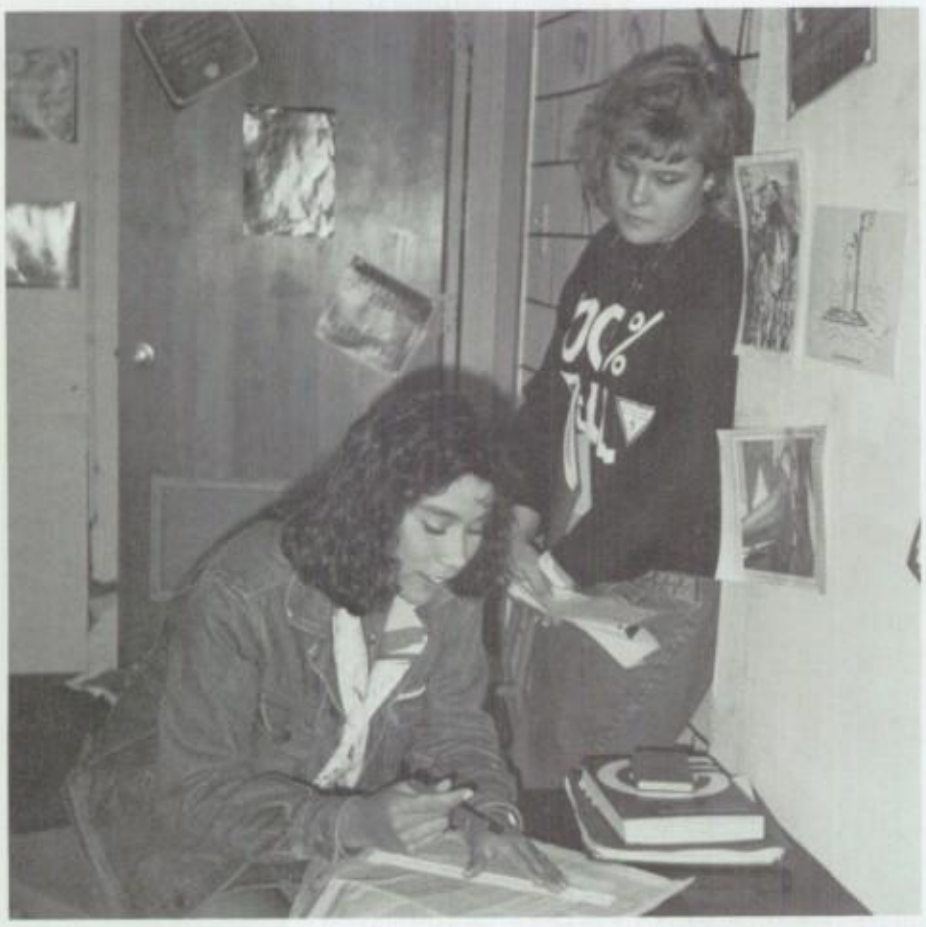
War Chant Staff Had A Fun-Filled, Productive Year! Hard Work, Dedication Paid Off For Chieftain Staff!



When "Double O-Seven" comes to mind, one usually conjures up an image of movie idol James Bond off on another risky adventure. At Westwood, the numbers 007 also bring adventure to mind in the eyes of the 50 Newspaper and Yearbook staff members. 007 is the number of the door of the Publications room. In this room, creative minds joins together for 50 minutes a day to publish the Chieftain yearbook and the War Chant newspaper.

Reporters for the War Chant scouted Westwood searching for interesting, exciting and useful information to pass on to fellow Warriors. This year, the War Chant promoted some of Westwood's accomplished students by interviewing a special "Warrior of the month" in each paper. "Off the Cuff" proved once again to be the perfect opportunity for students to see new aspects of their classmates and have a few chuckles.

Constucting a yearbook is such a monumental project that it requires two classloads of students working feverishly to make it happen. Silence is not golden in room 007 and this allowed staff members to become better acquainted as the year progressed. Working among friends made the chore of compiling a yearbook enjoyable.

Newspaper and Yearbook staffs often teamed up for social events outside of class. The Christmas dinner at Mattas was especially titillating due to the mysterious appearance of Surfin' Santa. Staffers sold candy and publicized the Chieftain dance to pay for a special end of the year banquet.

Student Council Keeps Traditions Rolling

Behind the scenes at Westwood there are several organizations that strive to achieve new heights. Student Council was one group. Hard work, dedication, and creativity are only some of the qualities that shined during the past year in Student Council.

This year was the start of new and exciting activities. The "spirit buttons" were the rave of high fashion. The dances also had a spice added to them by contests and the giving away various surprises. Another inovation to Westwood was the Senior Prom King and Queen. No one could forget those good 'ol Westwood traditions like Wahoo Pah Hoo, Thai Chewee week class floats and class plays. They were all kept strong throughout the years of Student Council.

The council was built of twenty outstanding students who were elected to hold specific obligations for the 1985-1986 school year. To be a candidate in the running one needed a petition signed by a certain amount of classmates depending on the office he or she was running for.

Besides all the fun activities around campus, Student Council was involved in making the foreign exchange students feel at home and learning about their native country.

Joni Shain and Shaila Reidhead always have time to take a break from making a sign when a photographer walks by.

The National Honor Society is a group of juniors and seniors with great academic ability. To become a member of this elite group, several requirements had to be met. The students must have excelled in the areas of character, service, scholarship, and leadership as determined by an intricate application form. A grade point average of 1.5, on a 1.0 scale, must also be maintained.

The year began with an induction ceremony at Mesa Centennial Hall where all Veteran members greeted the new members to the group. The induction ceremony was followed by a series of events that included monthly meetings, academic hall decoration at Christmas time, campus beautification, community projects, and sweat shirt sales.

Mrs. Joyce Huffaker once again was the sponsor. She dedicated much of her time to help make the club a great success. Her time and effort were greatly appreciated by all.

A New Year-A New Dance Production

This years Dance Production sparkled with talent. They dazzled their audiences with new and exciting concerts. Some of the concerts they performed in were: Curtain Time, Fall Concert, Christmas Assembly, Spring Assembly, and Spring concert. Unfortunately the number of assemblies a year was lowered, leaving Dance Production with one assembly to perform for the school. So more time and work were spent to perfect the dances and fascinate the audience.

The girls were selected through a process of audition. They were to compose a two minute dance and perform it for the senior girls in Dance Production. Every one was judged on creativity and skill. Mrs. Zarkou pointed out that this years Dance Production went through many changes. Most of the girls were new to the production so things got off to a rough start. With many new people hard work and dedication was in high demand. The girls who stuck with it did their best to make it a great year. Many of the girls will remain in Dance Production next year. They are sure that with their previous experience that next years Dance Production will be a fabulous one.

Students Get A Chance In The Working World

Distributive Education of America, more commonly known as DECA, was very productive and successful this past year. DECA is designed to teach students about the business world centered around-marketing, merchandising, and management. Along with learning, the members of DECA received three credits toward graduation.

DECA started their activities with the annually held fall eastern area conference in October. The conference contained several meetings for the different areas of interests in marketing. Out of approximately fifteen eastern Arizona high schools, Becky Courter, vice president of DECA activities, felt the members of DECA represented Westwood very well. Fundraisers consisted of selling soda pop and popcorn at the varsity football games. At Christmas time, members sold Australian Crystal. Later in the year, they sold spirit bumper stickers that said, "Catch the Warrior Wave". Selling these bumper stickers will pay for future trips to State Competitions.

Cooperative Office Education, COE, was very effective this year. COE provides help to seniors in finding business related jobs. They were required to work a minimum fifteen hour work week and received three credits for the course. Throughout the year, COE sponsored many fundraising activities and participated in various community services. On Halloween, members dressed up in costumes and visited Mesa Lutheran Hospital's children's ward. With the help of candy sales, COE was able to supply two Thanksgiving dinners to two needy families. At Christmas time, along with DECA, COE decorated the halls. To highlight the end of the school year, Westwood COE met with other COE clubs from the four High Schools in Mesa and enjoyed a social banquet.

Bowling: A First

Thanks to coaches Robert Kiesecker and Margaret Morris Westwood had a bowling team this year. The first year has been a stupendous one. Westwood is the first school ever in the Mesa Public School system to form a bowling team. In the beginning, sixty-four students signed up, but there were only fourteen coed teams consisting of fourty-nine regular members. The team had a hodgepodge of players to begin with; players ranged form beginners to excellent bowlers. The season was two ten week periods long. During those weeks, bowlers practiced every Tuesday at 3:30 at the Country Club Bowl. Sonnie Means provided the admission, free shoes and the specials on food.

Members kept their own scores while perfecting their game. Awards were presented to Nocky Rouch, Brian Auchard, Jeff Marcus, and Tom Leu for scoring over 200 points per game. Playing Mesa High, Brian Auchard bowled 277, Barrie Pitts bowled a perfect 300 game. The High Series games went to Barrie Pitts with a 719 series and Mike Cameron bowling a 683 series. "With bowling being played in the 1988 olympics, bowling may have a good start at the ametuer level." says Coach Robert Kiesecker. Sonnie Means says, "Not everyone can play basketball or football but everyone can bowl!"

Accent On Academics Brings Westwood Much Success. Mayors Youth Committee Helps Support Mesa's People.

Accent on Academics is a club designed to compete against the surrounding Mesa high schools. It is sponsored by; Mr. Olderog, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Perysian. The club competes in history, geography, math, and other academic areas. When they're competing, they meet twice a week for mini meets against each other. This year they competed against Mesa High, Dobson, and Mountain View. According to Mr. Olderog, the team showed school spirit and eagerness to win. Good luck to next year's club!

Mayors Youth Committee, which is sponsored by Ms. Merrell, has worked hard this past year to bring happiness to Mesa's people. They are a committee that works to serve Mesa residents, from food to fun and games. The group has done many things to brighten peoples lives. During Christmas time, one could find them singing to elderly folks, carrying baskets of food and songs to bring happiness. During the year, they set up food stands and game booths to celebrate Mesa Days and Veterans Day. They had a successful year in bringing joy to Mesa's young and old people.

Minority And Foreign Groups Excel

"The students in the German club have one main purpose," laughs Mrs. Baily, "and that's to have fun." And fun it is! Through the year they plan and participate in many activities, all of which are organized with Mrs. Baily present only as an advisor. They have visited several German restaurants, and made spirit signs, displayed in the halls, before football games just to name a few of their many accomplishments.

The French club, led by Mr. Ferguson, has done many exciting things this year. For example, they participated in a get-acquainted video party at the beginning of the year. At this party they planned all the exciting events they would partake in. One of these was the donation of a Christmas basket filled with all sorts of French Christmas goodies, to a needy family. Mr. Ferguson hopes to have an even more productive club next year.

The Indian club is one of the more active clubs on campus. They have had many guest speakers on alcohol and drug abuse, their native culture, humanistic problems, and counciling sessions on health. "Our main goal is to help educate them and help them understand their ancestoral and cultural values," commented Mrs. Ucci, the sponsor. Another important asset of the Indian club is that they help to inform the members of things available to them on the reservation. They have an agriculture section that teaches the members how to grow ethnic foods. These are just a few of the many helpful activities the Indian club has to offer.

Clubs Help Students Prepare For Future

With all the new career opportunities open to women and minorities, direction and guidance in this confusing job market are appreciated by all. The Women's Scholars, sponsored by Mrs. Merrell, had a chance to hear each month a successful women discuss her career, describe a typical day, and give hints on how to get an edge on others. Their speakers include a talk show host and a college professor. The Minority Scholars, also sponsered by Mrs. Merrell, listened to successful minority men and women. These speakers were to enhance the student's knowledge of the working world they would soon face.

The Chicano club in its second year as a club at Westwood, participated in competition along with the other clubs. At Christmas time, they decorated their hall with drawings of Santa Claus. Part of the purpose of the club is to instill an awareness of Chicano culture into the students. Another part of the clubs purpose is to help Chicano students regain an interest in school. Like the Women's Scholars and Minority Scholars, they too have speakers talk to their club. Their sponsor, Mr. Otero, looks for a speaker who will motivate the students to become interested in education. The club hopes to award two scholarships at the end of the year to deserving club members.

R.O.T.C. Displays Discipline And Leadership Qualities

The Reserve Officer Training Corps, led by both Colonel Conger and Sergeant Dale, was extremely active this year both on and off campus. The program, now in its fifth year, is designed to assist motivated, eager students in developing discipline and leadership skills that will prepare them for careers in both technological and military fields.

Throughout the year the cadets were in constant competition with one another for outstanding achievement in various areas of the preparation course. The reason for the disciplined drilling on the basketball courts that you may have noticed this past year, was so that the cadets could learn how to lead and be led.

R.O.T.C. raised and lowered the flag at all home football games and every morning and noon. Several cadets also led the pledge of allegiance during morning announcements. Field trips were taken during the year to several U.S.A.F. bases, where the cadets were taken on orientation flights.

The military ball and awards banquet held during the year were very successful. The cadets were commended for their outstanding achievement during the course of the year. Many R.O.T.C. students will go on to serve both their country and community.

The Show Goes On

There is a feeling you get when you are on the stage; ask any Masque and Dagger member about it.

With the many creative talents of Mr. Jay Dean Jones, honored Masque and Dagger members once again were able to dive into the truly enriching world of drama. The students were chosen to participate in this organization based on their performance during their auditions. After becoming a member, the group explored the diverse field of theatrical work.

Though this field is diverse, there is always a part for everyone. If one is fascinated by acting, one may choose to act in a play, do improvisations, skits, or pantomimes.

Not all of the jobs to be had are in front of audiences. Behind the scenes is the Stage Crew. The Stage Crew is responsible for working the sound equipment, the lights and various aspects of putting a show together. The crew is under the direction of Mr. Jones also. The group meets first hour as a regular class to learn the technical aspects that must be known in order to carry out the needed responsibilities. The members are able to select which area they want to work and they become somewhat professional at what they do.

The Masque and Dagger club experienced many thrills throughout the year. Many of the members will cherish their memories of the years spent as a member of such an interesting organization.

Members Of HERO Club Feel And Act Like Winners
VICA Members Participate In State-Wide Competitions

The Hero club certainly has a lot to offer. The Home Economics Related Organizations club is designed for students who are interested in a home economics related career. Each member must have a part-time job in that field. This work program is worth three credits a year; but most of all the club gives its members a sense of well-earned achievement. The club participates in many social and community service activities throughout the year. This year they prepared a Thanksgiving feast for a needy family and entered a tree into the Children's Festival of Trees at Christmas time.

"Each member comes away from here feeling like, and knowing how to be a winner." said Mrs. Smith, club coordinator.

VICA, which stands for Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, is a twenty-five member club that helps to prepare each member for a career in industrial, technical, and health related occupations. All of the members are also in the ICE class and have part-time jobs that serve in one of those three fields. The class has a study unit that "overall teaches them how to be good employees," commented Larry Judd, club coordinator.

Every year the club participates in various state-wide competitions which offer a variety of prizes, scholarships, and job opportunities. In June they will attend the National Skill and Leadership competition. It will be in Phoenix and is predicted to be the largest competition ever.

The Art Club Shows Talent, Skill And Creativity

Westwood's art club was a club dedicated to people. Everybody had the opportunity to express themselves through their art. Art club participants were able to work on individual projects such as drawings and graphic design or basic photography skills like developing. Students could work freely without the pressure of being graded on their performance.

Art club members promoted their club by face painting willing Westwood students in October. Many people took pleasure in parading around school with artistic designs on their face. Many of the art students have their work exhibited in the front office.

Club member Robin Pilbrow commented, "Everybody has the need to express themselves in some way and art is the way myself and others choose to express our individuality."

Students who enjoyed hamming it up in front of an audience, performing dramatic interpretations, acting, or just having a good vocal argument now and then, found their place in the Speech and Debate club. The club entered competitions approximately once a month, giving them the opportunity to perform before judges in areas of poetry, oratory, extemperaneous speeches, acting and debate. Members of Speech and Debate found these competitions stimulating and fun.

Under the leadership of sponsor, Mrs. Stehr, and second year President, Janelle Chisholm, the club represented Westwood.

Health And Tutoring Clubs Beneficial To Student Body

"We're not large in quantity, but large in quality." stated Mrs. Eleanor Ucci of the Health Club. The club consisted of only nineteen members, but all were enthusiastic, caring, self-motivated, and interested in all aspects of good health. President Michalene Hunt led these nineteen members in numerous activities. Guest health professional speakers were scheduled regularly. Members also benifited from visits to hospitals, doctor's and veterinarian's offices, and from a field trip to the University of Arizona.

The Tutoring Club was a small, enthusiastic group. Made of only eleven members, the club helped students having difficulties in academic classes and foreign students learning English. These students are mainly from Mexico, Cambodia, Vietnam, and Japan. The only requirements to become a member is having big heart and a strong academic background, good attendance, and a 2.0 grade average or better. Besides schoolwork, cultural knowledge and strong friendships occured in the tutoring room. The tutors sometimes felt they learned more than their students from all the experience they gained. They felt they grew in study skills and knowledge of the contents they tutored, and also in self awareness. The friendliness and good attitudes of the tutors helped the learning environment for the students. This was a very worthwhile experience for both of the participants.

FFA Successful; Gold Medals Abound

The FFA chapter once again proved to be one of the best in the country. Westwood's FFA chapter represented the state of Arizona at the recent FFA National Convention held in Kansas City, Missouri. The chapter sent three teams: (Meats) Tami Austin, Joe Granio, Mike Miller and advisor Mr. Leo Peterson; (Horticulture) Ellen Weinel, Joyce Peel, Jim Seager, and advisor Mr. Richard Sawyer; (Agriculture Mecanics) Shaun Woodsum, Guy Byers, and Tom Christian, and advisor Nathan Moore. Along with the National Convention, FFA participated in many competitions on the state level.

The FFA chapter was lucky to have the State Agriculture Teacher of the Year. Leo Peterson was named to this honor. To achieve the award, Mr. Peterson helped the FFA sponsor a canned food drive for Christmas, Poinsetta sale, open house, end of the year banquet and the competitions held at Westwood.

The FFA chapter has had a rewarding and exciting year. The skills learned will help these Future Farmers as they pursue their own careers.

Future Begins Now

Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) set off on a year of training another group of students for a very prosperous future. Under the expert guidance of sponsor Mrs. Reck, this year's crew set out to turn the business world upside down with their achievements in their own respective fields. This year's activities included the sponsoring of Hall 4 during the "Hall Decorations" contest. In addition to this, FBLA, in February, sent a strong team of students to the statewide competitions with the hopes of vaulting a good deal of people into the national finals. Their field of competition included every aspect of business from typing and sales to law and overall business skills. Westwood congratulates the hard working members of FBLA on their onslaught of tomorrow's business world.

Christ on Campus, under the sponsorship of Mr. Cornell, began the first of the year relatively unknown. As a new club this year COC has attracted a following of participants eager to have an enjoyable time. Hard work over the first semester allowed the club to pay Crumbacher, a band out of California, for a concert during February. They were met with much excitement and were a big success for the young club. Mr. Cornell has high expectations for the club and hopes that it will gain a larger membership in years to come.

Living in a complex society,

We see only one perspective,

Communicating our ideas,

Listening to thoughts and opinions,

We engage in conversation,

And try to see another view.

We don't have to agree,

But can we accept?

By recognizing each other's strengths,

Looking beyond outside appearance,

We discover real people . . .

Population Grows; Accomodations Needed

With every new year, the District Administration of Secondary Schools works to uphold the quality education that Mesa schools have been noted for. The most prevalent task facing the district administrators this year was working to accommadate the steadily rising student population in Mesa.

A $98 million band facility, which was presented to the district last year, allowed Superintendent Dr. James Zaharis and his fine associates to set high goals for the coming years. By 1990 there will be an addition of two new high schools to our district; one will be built on Power Road, the other, tentatively named Red Mountain High School, will be built on Bush Highway.

The Westwood student body will be able to enjoy the influx of funding to the Mesa District in their own backyard. The long awaited new music building has finally been approved. It seems only fitting that Westwood should be granted such a facility considering each year, Westwood places more musicians in the regional band and orchestra than any other high school. The new building will be built directly behind the auditorium.

Jack Joyce Commends Student Achievements

It is a genuine pleasure for me to congratulate and extend best wishes to you, the class of 1986, upon the successful completion of your high school career. This year at Westwood has been memorable in many respects. We continued to display excellence in all facets of school life, once again solidifying our reputation as one of the outstanding high schools in the nation.

This, your senior year, was characterized by unqualified success in scholarship, athletics, extra-curricular activities and service to your school and community. Four National Merit Scholarship Finalists; and outstanding football season, highlighted by a second consecutive victory over Mountain View; four Vo-Ag judging teams representing the state at the Future Farmers of America National Convention in Kansas City; state and national recognition for our music programs; and many other accomplishments too numerous to mention — all characterize the outstanding success and achievement of the class of 1986. I want you to know that the entire faculty and staff appreciate your contributions to the ongoing success of Westwood High School. We certainly hope that the lessons you have learned here will serve you as you move on to advanced schooling or out into the business world. We hope that you will always remember Westwood and be proud of the fact that you are a "Westwood Warrior".

Counseling Staff Excels; Resource For Warriors

Westwood's counseling staff is one of the finest in the Mesa School District. Whether they were helping students change their schedules, advising them about choice of college, or just listening to their problems, the counselors did an outstanding job everyday this year.

The counselors provided the students with information that they would not have been able to obtain otherwise. They made sure that the students signed up for the PSAT, SAT, and ACT on time. The effort Mr. Frontone put into printing the Senior Bulleton paid off in scholarship money for many seniors. The college representatives Mrs. McHenry helped bring to the campus enabled the students to become better aquainted with prospective schools. This year such prestigious institutions as Southern California, Cal Tech and Princeton University visited our school as a result of the counselors' efforts. These counselors provided a store of information for the Warriors all year long.

This year many of the counselors supported special interest groups. Mr. Otero sponsored the Chicano club, while Mrs. Merrell involved herself in a variety of special groups. She was the Westwood's Mayor's Youth Committee advisor, National Honor Society's co-sponsor, and she helped sponsor many of Westwood's Scholar Societies. All of the counselors have helped to make this year a success for Westwood.

Special Services Enhance Campus Life For Students

The people in the special services department were extremely dedicated to the student body this year. Their efforts reaped tremendous rewards.

All three of the security guards, Al Arbizu, Ellie Rael and Bob Whittenbeen, were well-liked by the Warriors. They spent the year keeping Westwood safe from the ruthless Toros and Mustangs. With friendly, yet firm actions, our security guards made Westwood a safe place to attend.

The school Nurse, Mrs. Ucci, did a fine job of keeping Warriors going to their classes. Mrs. Ucci helped students with health service carrers through her club.

Though perhaps little-known, our school psychologist, Mr. Rick Biddlecome, was well worth getting to know. Always friendly and helpful, Mr. Biddlecome helped students with their personal concerns. Also low profile, teachers of blind and deaf students keep our handicapped students up on class skills.

The combined efforts of these special people added yet another positive dimension to Westwood's campus life.

Westwood Librarians Outstanding
Campus Bookstore Helps Promote Spirit

Westwood offers a great number of special services to the student body. One of the most important is the library. The librarians and countless aides are always ready and willing to assist students in finding materials for research papers or novels for book reports. Mrs. Free is always there with a listening ear for the warriors. The bookstore was another invaluable service. After arriving to school two minutes before the first bell rings and discovering that you left your only pencil on the table where you had been studying for your first hour math test, you would be in a bind if it weren't for the bookstore. A quick stop off at the bookstore and you were well equiped for the day for a minimal cost.

The list of special services would not be complete if Mr. Larson and Mrs. Allred in A.V. weren't mentioned. Without these two individuals the school would not run as smoothly as it does. From running off tests and assignments, to grading scantrons, to making sure the movie projectors are functioning, they keep the school in motion.

The students and staff are deeply indebted to these fine people.

Performing Artists Shine Concerts, Plays Inspire

Westwood's performing arts department flourished under the leadership of its four dedicated instructors. Mr. Kim Thompson skillfully guided his two symphonic orchestras through rigorous daily rehearsals. At concerts and festivals, judges and audiences were thrilled with the challenging and brilliantly played musical literature.

Mr. Jeff Harris, choir director, worked with extremely talented vocalists, leading them to unbelievable heights in their performing ability. His knowledge of instrumental music and music theory added to his students' musical growth, sustaining his reputation as a respected, top vocal director.

Band director, Robert Cunningham, led the highly acclaimed Marching Band through a great football season, adding excitement to the many half-times. He drilled three other bands daily, demanding precision and exactness in their playing. The band members, under "B.C.'s" conscienctious control, excelled in their individual playing as well as in group performing.

Mr. Jay Dean Jones contributed dramatically to the performing arts, molding talented students into star-bound actors. His years of theatrical experience were reflected in every production presented by the drama department, his directing technique yielding dazzling results.

Shop And Art Classes Enhance Hobbies

Imagination creates beauty. Imagination and beauty thrive in the Industrial Arts Department. Such projects as cutting boards, shelves, chests, gunracks, tool boxes, can openers, telivision stands, and furniture abound. Teachers refine electricity, wood working, cabinet making and drafting. Teachers work to transform students' imagination to life. Students are graded on attendance, tests, quizzes, machine operation and safety skills, and projects they have made.

The Art Department also thrives on beauty and imagination. The largest high school teaching staff in the city allows for a wide variety of courses offered, such as, painting, pottery and ceramics. The support of the administration contributes to the department's success. Several students have entered and placed highly in exhibitions and contests.

The tradition of excellence is strenghtened at Westwood by these classes. Many hours of instruction have helped students express their imagination in a concrete project.

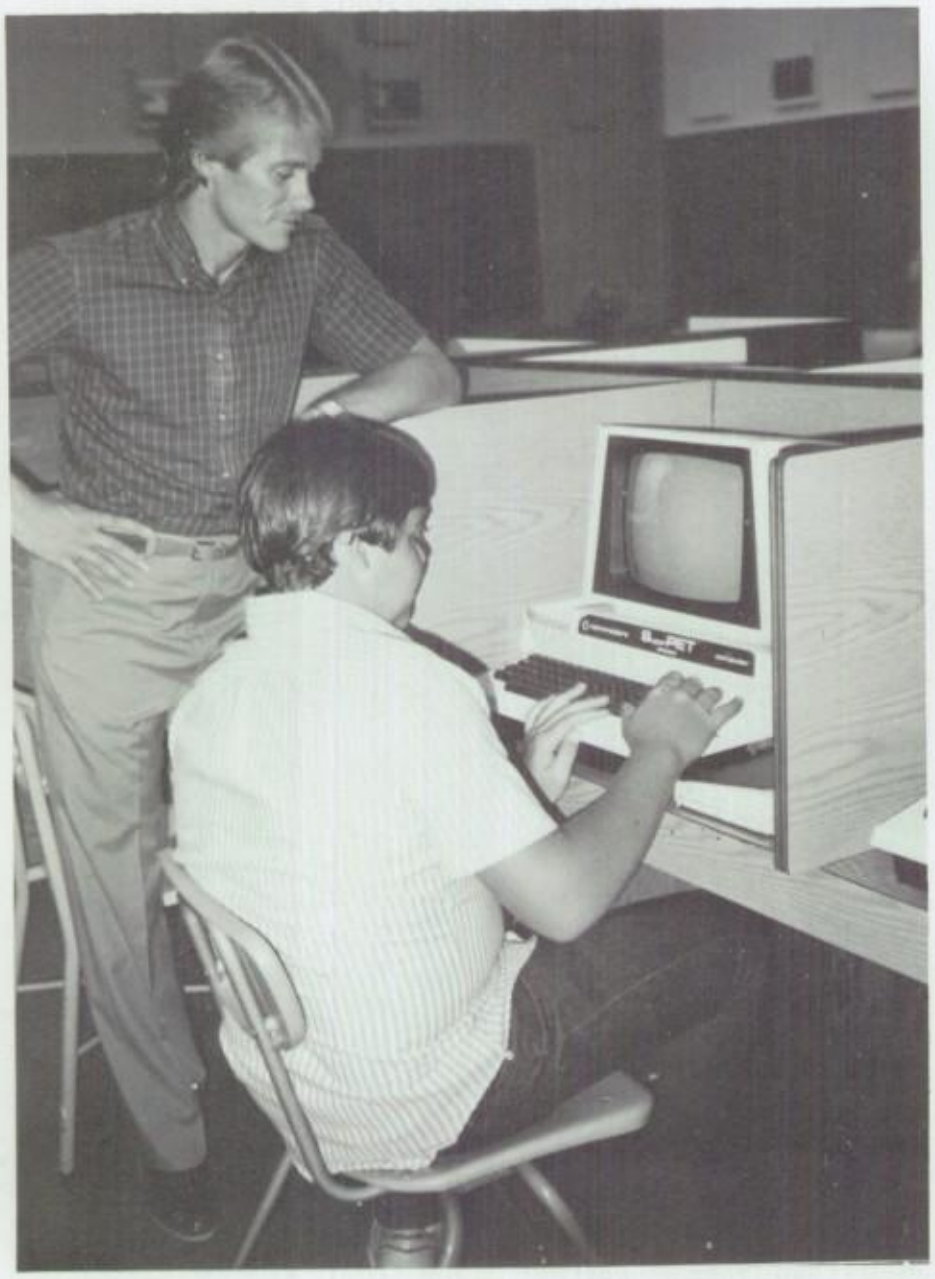
Math, Science Present Challenge To Students



When most students think of math and science they think of hard problems, long assignments, and boring lectures. Although some of the problems are difficult and many of the assignments are long, the classes are by no means boring, thanks to the dedicated staff in each of these departments. Each teacher is committed to helping the student learn as much math and science as his brain can handle. Most teachers are available before and after school to assist students who need a little extra help.

Westwood's math and science departments are also dedicated to helping the students get ahead. Both departments offer Advanced Placement classes through which students can earn college credit while still in high school by taking a comprehensive exam at the end of the year. These departments are also aware of the necessity of having a strong math and science background in order to compete for most occupations. Yet another reason for taking these classes is to improve scores on the college entrance exams.

It is the goal of the math and science departments to help the upward-bound Westwood Student succeed in college and the job market.

English Students Excel Teachers Are The Reason

Many students often wonder why they must take English courses; after all they know how to speak the language very well, as many teachers will attest to. However, a solid background in English is essential to a career goal.

Here at Westwood, students should take advantage of the many fine teachers we have in this area. Not only do these teachers consistently produce students who win essay contests, but they also have been recognized on their own merit. For the past two years, Westwood's teachers have been selected to represent the best of America's English teachers in England. Mr. Dant and Mrs. Bordwell were the recipients of this prestigious honor.

In addition to the outstanding English department, Westwood's foreign language department is also of high quality. Several foreign languages such as German, French, Spanish, and Latin are offered to the Warriros. Westwood's students have done very well in past foreign language fairs and promise to keep up this tradition of excellence. Colleges like to see students with a foreign language in their high school background.

The English and foreign language departments are just another example of Westwood's commitment to excellence.

Something For Everyone In Exciting P.E. Land

Westwood's physical education department offered something for everyone. The variety of activities widened to accommodate all students' interests.

From volleyball to aerobics to weight training, the girls' P.E. section gave every girl the chance to enjoy herself while staying healthy. The boys' P.E. department offered the traditional running, basketball, and weight training. The staff increased in size this year due to the number of courses offered.

Sports were once again popular this year. Sports gave students the opportunity to participate on a team and experience the dedication that participation requires. For many, organized sports served as a physical outlet not given in the classroom.

The Physical education department did a fine job this year of preparing Westwood's student bodies for the demands of everyday life.

Social Studies Courses Reach New Heights

Who was the twenty-fourth president of the United States? If the demand for popcorn goes up what will happen to the supply of popcorn? In which branch of the government is the supreme court? Social Studies is full of these types of questions. Westwood's social studies department is dedicated to helping students find the answer to these questions since they have and will effect our lives. Westwood's teachers use more than textbooks and lectures to help their students learn. One method used to teach government is visiting Washington D.C. with a program called Close-Up. Each spring juniors and seniors have the opportunity to learn how our government works first hand.

In order to graduate students must have 2½ credits of social studies. Students are required to take Arizona history, American History, government, and Free Enterprise. For the motivated and ambitious student, acclerated classes are offered. Taking Advanced Placement American History and College Prep Government are excellent ways not only to raise a grade point average, but also to prepare for college level classes. A person can even earn college credit by taking A.P. History and then scoring a 3, 4, or 5 on an exam in the spring. What a great way to get a head start!

Agriculture, Auto Motivate Prepare Students For Future

The nature lovers of Westwood have once again made the Agriculture classes a success this year. This impressive 200 member group has applied valuable skills learned in Agriculture classes. These classes taught students how to care for livestock and grow their own crops, as well as participate in many FFA competitions.

Students who participated in FFA had the opportunity to get involved in a variety of activities, such as: wood cuts, stock-sales, and many types of public speaking competitions. After capturing the state title in a speaking contest, Missy Hunt traveled to Kansas City and placed outstandingly well in the national competition.

The auto mechanics classes were also quite beneficial to the students this year. The techniques and skills the students learned in class enabled many to keep their cars running smoothly, and have fun doing it. The classes not only kept the cars in tip top shape, but the school's farming equipment as well.

Both of these fine classes had a lot to offer students. Handson training can be obtained for those who are interested in either of these areas. Overall the skills taught in these classes created capable and well-balanced young adults.

Business: Preparing Warriors For The Future

"Hey kid, get a job!" Do these words sound familiar? The business department could have helped you this year. In addition to providing classes that build business skills like typing, shorthand, record keeping, and accounting, the faculty sponsored clubs were willing to help find a job. DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America), COE (Cooperative Office Education), VICA (Vocational Industrial Clubs of America), FBLA (Future Business Leaders of America), and JAG (Jobs for Arizona Graduates) provided excellent experience and instruction for the competitive business world. All of these clubs have state competitions to show off their best.

For students unsure of their talents, the department provided an aptitude test to determine their greatest strengths. Taking this test at the beginning of the year, students were able to determine if record keeping or accounting was their fortes. Thes test also insured students from getting into a class that might be too difficult for them. Working with individuals was a key to success.

Home Economics Valuable Intructs In Domesticities

The students in home economic classes were taught many valuable skills and worthwhile hobbies by teachers Jean Engle, Nancy Gearhart, Jackie Hatch, and Vera Smith. Activities ranging from cooking to child-care prepared students for their futures with families of their own and various professions.

Undoubtedly, the home economics students enjoyed everything they learned, but understanding took time and careful instruction. Designing an outfit, preparing a souffle, and changing a diaper were very detailed processes, requiring practice and initial supervision. Each faculty member made sure her classes received all the help and explanation necessary to accomplish the task at hand.

The main objective of every course offered by the home-ec department was to help students understand how to use their talents to contribute to their families, school, jobs, and community. The courses aquainted students with useful skills such as nutrition, interior design, and various other occupational areas. The participants, both male and female, valued each experience and realized the importance of this training for the future.

Westwood and the awesome Warriors will always hold a special place in my heart. My three years here have really been, "The best years of my life!" (Should I footnote that?!)

My sophie year was spent cruising in the bad brown breakdance bug, having pancakes at Louie's, discussing bone marrow and juandongos with C.U., T.P., J.M., and D.W., and iceblocking in February. Look out seniors here we come!

Moving on to my junior year, I definitely remember taking quite a few bus trips! Band day at NAU was outstanding! It was a long ride, but worth every minute! That trip produced many lasting friendships. I don't think the girls basketball team will ever forget all those trips to "$#@&% YUMA" (Stang - you're great!). "I like the pick 'n roll, I like the give 'n go . . ."*

S-E-N-I-O-R-S! Senior Warriors are the best! Definitely! My senior year threw me a curve academically, as it did most seniors. But my teachers really made me think for myself, and I began to feel like I was in college! Well I know college will be nothing like Westwood. The spirit and closeness here is really something special, and I'm glad I was a part of it. Everyone I've met here at Westwood has made a lasting impression on me. Senior class "I love you!"

To all of my fans, you look marvelous! I'm very glad I had the chance to write about my three years at Westwood High because it was so fresh (cool).

As a sophomore, I had to pretend I was hip to all the latest fashions, sayings, and moves. So I had to find a counterpart as humble as I, at the time. And I did. You guessed it, Julian AAA Walters. Like Batman and Robin, we were on the prowl to become popular. So we decided to try our cards at break dancing, and "bullseye," we were popular. We had only one problem, no one knew who was who.

As juniors Junlian and I got into a contest to see who was the best dressed at the school. Julian, knowing that I was a very outgoing guy, knew that I could always butter up my brother to wear his hand-me-downs. So after I defeated him, we had once more another contest to see who would be on the basketball team first. Foiled Again. I did make it and kept the bench warm next to two other pine riders — M.B. and J.D.

My senior year, the best as it could be, taught me a lot about school and people. When you're a cool senior like myself, you have to hit the books, get credits, and a diploma. That's one thing that will make you more popular than any other thing. I would like to thank Coach Troutt, he knows, and Coach Doolen for teaching me something I never knew before, how to play. May WAR EAGLE always be at its utmost at Westwood. '86!

To me, being a warrior is not what it says in the dictionary. It's all the games, dances, floats, and friends that are at Westwood.

I'll never forget my sophomore year here at Westwood. I hit this campus full force at the mere age of 14. I thought I'd never be old enough to drive. Who can't say our sophomore float wasn't great. "Who needs a theme", I thought we'd never live that down.

Student council and swim team were the highlights of my junior year. All the long nights at float with Jenny's guard dog! Kim and Jana don't ever forget the topless bunny that drove me and my friends everywhere we needed to go, even Mountain View. (don't forget 16-7)

S-E-N-I-O-R-S! What an experience to behold. I can't believe we (J.M., C.U., T.P.) dressed up for the school down the road. Then there was the awesome football team, way to go boys! WW. 2 Mt. V. O. What a way to go out in style! I hope everyone had as much fun as I did here at Westwood. I'll never forget any of the friends I made, and I'll miss you guys!

My three years at Westwood were really great. People always told me that, "High school is the best time of your life." Well it's true. I'll have some good memories to look back on, especially in my sophie year. Loading up in D.B. stang and heading to the dances was great, and going over to D. Bursch's house for a veteran's session with Tommi G., the Brown, Ant, JuJu, Koog, and Danny B was awesome. My junior year was a blast with the Warrior football team when we headed over to Mt. Puke with an orangeites caravan and the Warriors prevailed in an unsurprising upset over the Toros 16-7.

Last but not least my senior year. I sat against the wall with the Brown, Ant, and Tommi, discussing the minor purposes of how masculine L. Trapnell's legs were. I passed out in the back of Greg G. truck, having all the girls thinking I was dead. And all the wilderness adventures we've had in Payson were unforgetable.

Through my years at Westwood, I've met some really close friends, and many beautiful ladies, such as: J.J., L.T., L.W., K.H., and R.P. Just to name a few.

So to Westwood and all you upcoming seniors, "thanks" for three great years. All you fly girls at NAU, look out! Cause Rodney B. is coming to give some clout!

I've learned a lot from my courses here at Westwood. But my fondest memories come from outside the classroom.

"Warrior Power" has to be one of the most rewarding experiences of my high school career. There was dumbfounded Scott Roberts (did he ever graduate?) and Pat Schabel (C'mon join the team. It's fun to hit people). Darrell "Epson Salt" Epps and "Tim" (sorry about that Tom) Atkinson gave me some great quotes and Coach Jones was there whenever I needed him. He was probably the only guy on campus who understood my problems (probably cause he had the same ones). But the entire football program is filled with great guys.

Band turned out to be another fun-filled activity. There was the doodling with Ryan (Happy birthday, Heather) and yes . . . my friends and I kept Chris Rich alive for the second straight year (what an accomplishment). Who can forget (especially chiz) that famous quote, "What's chiefs' drill?" B.C. was the greatest and I still have conductoritis. Oh and let's not forget Mr. Jones's contribution to my personal enrichment. (He finally got me a date for Prom.)

All in all, three very memorable years!

"Goodybye Dear Friend"

What can I really say about my past three years at Westwood? I started as a pitiful sophomore, but I must add that I was pretty cool! My Sophomore year was an eventful one — compared to elementary school! I particularly remember being in awe of my upperclassmen. I just can't believe that I am graduating this year. I loved my Sophomore and Junior years because I was active and I enjoyed my classes. I can remember my participation in badminton and tennis. We had a lot of fun, but we also expressed our spirit and pride for Westwood by ending the seasons with rather impressive records. The badminton banquet especially, when I finally received my varsity letter. I was ecstatic. I really liked being on a team because it brought people closer together. I also remember the many lunches we had together and all of the times we were so worried that we would be late for our fourth hour classes. Since the end of my Junior year, I have been comtemplating my future. Prior to that I had been worrying about losing all of my friends to various colleges and universities. I believe that I have made the best of friends in my years at Westwood and I dread not being with them after graduating. We have shared so many experiences and good times together that I feel these people are a part of me. My friends know me better than anyone else. I treasure their friendships and I hope that we will never stray too far from a telephone or pen and paper. The only real consolation I have from my three years at Westwood High are my memories. These have been the best years of my life. Westwood High School, I'm really going to miss you!

The past four years of participating on the Westwood Swim Team has given me a sense of personal achievement. Starting out as a Freshman was an intimidating experience. I remember swimming with some of Westwood's finest athletes such as: Tony Poleo, Dale Draeger, Dale Durfee, Steve Gates, and Wayne "Richie" Rich, to name a few. I didn't feel like a "big shot" but I did feel the pride of participating in one of Westwood's winningest sports. In the four years that I have swam, we were only beaten once.

Now that I'm a senior and hold a school record in the 500 yard freestyle, I can look back on my accomplishments and feel proud to be a Westwood Warrior. The past four years were never easy. To achieve such high standards takes motivation and practice along with the quality of the coaching staff. A deserving thanks goes to Coach Craig Cummins and all of those who supported our efforts.

Now to those of you who ask, "Why be a swimmer when there's other sports?" I'll tell you, it's one of the few sports you can do coed! It's also a very good way to cool off during the hot months of school. To all my fellow swimmers, keep striving for excellence and to Tom Wade, Stuart Hartvikson, and Lee Heath, it's been a great four years and I'm gonna miss it.

I still remember the way my knees shook as I wandered to my first hour class on that much anticipated first day at Westwood. After being humiliated for what seemed like everyday of Marching Band practice, I was convinced that there was no life after Carson!

Fotunately, Marching Band was not my only activity during that first ground-breaking year at Westwood. I was lucky enough to be invited as a guest at the "almost home" like dwelling of room 007. Because I was one of the few sophies on the newspaper staff I listened a lot. However, Mr. Donovan always cautioned that, "Someday, McHenry will speak!" Well, he was right, I did speak quite a bit during my junior year. In fact, I spoke enough to enable me to represent Westwood at Arizona Girls State and best of all become editor of Westwood's own War Chant.

It is difficult to convey what being at Westwood these past three years has meant to me and how I feel now that my years of being a Warrior are dwindling.

I know that the Friendships I have made while struggling through geometry, and having my neck nibbled by Doug Carlson in the scene we did together in MASH will be with me always. The lunches with Corey and Ivory and "The Girls" will also be with me for years to come!

My years at Westwood have been the best years of my life, and my involvement in the Future Farmers of America has been a big part of it. From my first years in F.F.A., wondering why everyone wore those funny blue jackets, to proudly wearing one of those jackets myself, good memories rush through my mind: trying to get the minutes done before Mr. Sayer yelled at me during my year as chapter secretary, walking across the stage after winning the state Horticulture contest, all the friends here at Westwood that I have made, like little Tom "thumb" C., who I watched grow from 4'2" to 4'7", helping T.A. park the truck for the first time at the Ag department, J.G. and his promises of some honey comb that I never saw, D.M. who was "not going to pass the buck.", the whole officer team feeding fish the size of our arm.

As a member of the F.F.A., I learned many things - leadership skills, accepting responsibility, how to make friends, and last but not least realizing that teachers are people too! My five advisors helped me through bad times in life and in the F.F.A., and I owe them more than just a "thank you." F.F.A. is only a small piece of Westwood's mosaic, but it has played a significant role in my high school experience, even though I'm only a "city slicker." I believe it can provide equally valuable experiences to students in years to come.

The past three years have been the most exciting ones of my life. I have met countless people and made many close friends. In addition to the student body, many members of the faculty helped to make my high school years memorable. One such person was Mr. Mounts. I will always remember the way he mispronounced my name and was always cracking jokes. AP Biology was one of my favorite classes. The 14 of us in there always managed to engage in some interesting topics of discussion.

As for extracurricular activities, Marching Band proved to be one of the most worthwhile organizations that I was involved in. At times I wondered if it was worth it when we were out on the fields during August every year in 100 degree weather hiking up and down the field. All of our long hard hours of practice were rewarded by having an opportunity to perform for the student body at various school functions. I will always remember the night we travelled to Greenway. I had my turn at conducting the band. I led them in "The Star-Spangled Banner".

The one faculty member that has shown me the most guidance is Mr. Kim Thompson. He always took an interest into his students activities outside of the music department and was willing to help them in any way he could. He is very supportive and wants success for all of his students. He is truly an asset to Westwood.

As a member of the Chieftain staff for two years, I learned how important it is to make deadlines and still put out a quality product. My experience as Co-Editor of the War Chant has been very educational. It has taught me how to work with people more effectively and strengthened my leadership abilities. I have enjoyed both immensely. All in all, Westwood has been terrific. I hope for all future graduates that when they look back on their years at Westwood they will have many fond memories to reminisce about.

Here's the scene . . . yes it's me and my buds on the way to our first day at Westwood, we had actually moved up to the low life sophie. Being on JV cheer made the year great! Oh, and how could I ever forget this was the year we started our favorite occupation - SPYING! We had plenty of memorable experiences from it.

The junior year brought new interest and I was soon enrolled in the music program. Then came orchestra, it definitely was fun, especially the trip to Mexico City where we met head on with rats the size of cats and tasty moursels, such as roaches, in our food - yum. The end of the year was great when I made Varsity cheer. Practices finally paid off when the first game came around. Well, except the time I fell from atop the pyramid three times in ten minutes and was unable to walk for weeks. Football season was the greatest! Cheering for the mighty Warriors was outstanding! Thanks to all my cheering buds: Cara, Laurie, Kelly, Lori, Caren, Renee, Jana, Tamara, and Sharon. Thanks for everything. You made it worth every minute! Also the talks on the bus rides and during first hours, well maybe they'll help someday.

And how could I ever forget the ponytail gals. All my memories of us are great. You were all the best friends that I could of asked for. Thanks Julie, Laurie, Janeen, Cara, Shelly, Debbie, and Leann. And may the class of 86 live on forever!

As a graduate of Powell Junior High School, my first year at Westwood was spent looking for the notorious hall five. As a member of the Westwood golf team, I soon started meeting people outside of the people I knew from Powell. It seemed that everybody knew somebody, but I only knew myself. As I moved into soccer, the crowd became larger, but I still was not recognized as a person, only as a "sophie."

My first Homecoming was spent with my "mother" carting my date and I around. (I felt so stupid.) When we finished dinner I had to call my "mommie" to pick us up and take us to the dance. The very little time we spent at the dance was merely used to hear the last dance as we entered through the gym doors. Then I had to call my "mommie" so she could pick us up and take her home.

Well besides Homecoming, I have shared many special moments here at Westwood and all of them could not have been experienced without my friends. I don't think I really have ever thanked anyone for being there when I needed them for support, help or advice. But I'm thanking M.B., S.K., and J.K., who now lives in Tucson, for all those laughs that we shared. Without you, It could not have been the same.

Well now that I'm a senior, the date of graduation is arriving at such a fast pace, I savor every minute. With all the help of my teachers, I will be ready and willing to move on into the real world, leaving all the wonderful moments of high school only for a cherished memory.

My years at Westwood have been filled with memories. I will never forget the many times we packed into school buses for our great orchestra trips . . . especially Mexico City last summer! We had a blast, sight-seeing and eating all of the country's exotic foods (Ha! I lost my appetite at the beginning of the week - I guess it was the roaches . . .)

My good times should be credited to my involvement with school activities. Becoming a member of various clubs helped me widen my circle of friends and catch the spirit of the true Warrior.

However, I met many new people in my academic classes as well. My chemistry buds were the best! It was fun pretending we undersood what Mr. Clark was talking about. To my aerobic pals Kerri, Jenny, and Holly, I say don't forget the queen of pain and janes!

Well, I guess it's off the college where me and my pals will attempt to make history at the Suns' games. I would like to send a special thanks to the lunch crew for helping me maintain my perfect tardy record - may your lives be blessed with a bountiful harvest of priazzo!

Westwood, what a great school! After attending here for three years, I have seen both good times and bad. How well I remember the early days as a sophie'. I had never seen so many people in my life. I was in awe as I gazed upon the studly seniors and dreamed of the day that I would be one. Now as my senior year is quickly fading away, I wonder where all the time has gone. Then I remember that it was consumed by everything, ranging from football games to cramming for tests.

Being involved in the best music department in the state was a great experience. There were Showcase concerts at the Biltmore and wild weekends in San Diego. The Honor choir kept me busy singing a variety of music.

The knowledge that I gained here at Westwood is overwhelming. I went from "Oh no, not a frog!" in biology to "Avogodro's Number?" in chemistry (remember me Mr. Clark, the one who always flubbed up the experiments?). My knowledge of languages also increased. With the help of Mr. Dant, I learned "real English." (Whan that April?) My favorite line that Mr. Ferguson taught me was "Je vais a la plage!"

There are so many memories: the classes, dances, teachers, and friends. Yes, the friends; I don't think I could have made it through without them!

To everyone, I'd just like to say "thanks," and have a great life!"

Three years of my life have been spent in these knowledge-bearing halls, these streams of work, the corridors of Westwood High. Starting out every bright and cheery morning with Mr. Joyce's traditional announcement of "Good Morning," along with the supplement of Mr. Leudy responding with "Several additional announcements."

I've seen fads come and go, along with some pretty interesting characters. Togas, mini skirts, ¾ pants, bermudas, punk, and new wave all came into style. Popular sayings such as "Where's my car?", "Where are we eating today?", and "Get out of my way sophomore!" all came to being.

I've been hit in the head by Mr. Clark, been mystified by Mrs. Sturgell, and have had my intelligence insulted by Mr. Jacobs.

After all these changes, the fads, sayings, and punishments, I wouldn't change one day that was spent at my fabulous high school, Westwood High!

Westwood has been a part of some of the best years of my life. Not only my education, but also my self attitude and love for life has grown and strengthened. Our school has the umph, the class, and the spirit that many other schools are missing. The kids and the attitude are outstanding in character and admiration.

Orchestra, choir, National Honor Society, Art Club, and Westwood Women Scholars are some of the activities I have been involved in the last three years. One experience I remember well is that of fund raising for our Orchestra trip to California. After trying to sell calendars and candy for two weeks, I would be so sick of carrying the dumb stuff around that I would nearly throw it to lucky bystanders on a street corner just to get rid of it. Somehow I was successful in getting to California and had a very fun and memorable time.

I give my recognition, my thanks, and a piece of my heart to the great and outstanding high school, Westwood high. Go Westwood go!

Well, what do you know? High school is over just when I was getting to like it!

Westwood got better the longer I was here. As I met people and made new friends, I found that Westwood has the friendliest people around. The teachers were even considerate enough to make sure I had something to do at night. But as I struggled through their loads of homework, I really learned a lot.

Some of the best times I had were at the dances, football, and basketball games. Cheering on the mighty Warriors to victory, my friends and I had some great times! Beating Mt. View at their homecoming was one of my favorite games!

My senior year was the best! How could I forget C.J., M.S., L.M., R.B., G.S., J.G., and all my senior buds that hung around the lockers and wrote "words of wisdom" on the locker cages. I had fun singing in the mighty Honor choir, where I met a lot of good friends. The best part was getting to know all the good-looking girls around Westwood! Yes, finally as seniors it was the class of 86's year to "rule the school!"

Just like they say, these are "The best days of your life." So all you juniors and sophomores make the best of your high school years. Carry on the mighty Warrior tradition. Show your school spirit, and be proud to be a Warrior!

I'm really going to miss Westwood and all my friends. You guys are great! See you at the "Y!"

As I walked cautiously on Westwood's campus my sophie year, I remember all the sophie jokes we got. The same routine, like hall five, passed without a blink! Basketball and cross country were the best of times. Running the canals and in them was a new experience. Fountain Hills was our home track. Driving out there was fun; we never knew if the bus would make it back. Lisa, Yvonne, and I would tell the latest gossip. Basketball was a blast too. Our Yuma trips were the best.

My junior year came and went as fast as my sophie year. Lisa, Karla, Dawn, Yvonne, and I all had great times at the Radisson. T.A. will never forget the heat stroke she had, and C.L. and I taking her to my house to crash. She didn't even know C.L., her heart throb, was there.

My senior year, I came on campus ready to make fun of the sophies. Maria, Roxanne, Jill, and I all had fun sitting in the middle of the football field, playing our favorite game. My mornings sitting in the cold, drinking hot chocolate, and eating donuts were fun with Karla and Lisa. My high school years were the best, thanks to all the friends I have made!

Like most sophies, I started out my sophomore year in search of hall five (up the elevator and to the right)?! On Friday and Saturday nights you could always catch us at Snow and Paradiscream, scoping on the ASU men.

Life as a junior was a blast. My second year of being on the tennis team, and my first year of managing it was spectacular! One of our more exciting away matches was our first and last trip to the dust bowl of Arizona (a.k.a.- Yuma). Getting home at 1:30 a.m. and then heading over to Bob's Big Boy.

My senior year (Y-E-O-W), I must admit it has been simply outstanding! Academically though, I never thought I'd make it through-my senioritis had become most definitely fatal! Lunch was the high point of my days here at Westwood. S.S., M.C., S.P., and K.P.-packing up in my stang. We left our mark on every fast food place within a five mile radius of Westwood.

All the people that I've met here at Westwood have left an everlasting impression on me. I wish my senior class of '86 all the best. I love you and you'll never be forgotten!

As my Westwood days come to an end, I take time to look back. My high school days began at Powell, you know, as in Powell Patriots, where we all made fun of Mrs. Charles (we still remember those little accidents of hers don't we). Yup, those were the good ole days when our friends were made up of a big group of girls. Well things changed as we hit the big Westwood campus.

As sophies we had a blast. We were too busy having fun to realize what fools we made of ourselves. This was the year when Sharon, Missy, and I set out to get our drivers' license. After a couple of times, I finally got mine. But come lunch time, my friends would buckle up tightly. But hey, I didn't run any red lights, did I? The weekends were spent at football games, dances, Devil House, and Gold Rush - anywhere guys were. Hey L.P. how about the dash?

Many good times were spent in the yearbook room where we ran messages and arranged pictures. Sometimes we got yelled at for interrupting lectures. Those trips to Fords were great; we really learned responsibilities. Mr. Donovan made us feel like mature young adults rather than kids.

Looking back I have good and bad memories. But the great ones always come up first. Thanks to Sharon, Missy, Lisa P., and Lisa Lee for a great year. I hope you have fun at ASU and beauty school - watch out college men here they come!

Looking back on my three years at Westwood, I will always recall wading through the big lake in the middle of the locker cages in order to get to my locker. I remember my first year as being a "big sophie"; my friends and I decided to think of an undiscovered hang out for lunch (within walking distance). We journied by foot to the hospital cafeteria. We soon discovered why it wasn't a popular hang out. (And we thought school food was bad!)

Then came life as a junior. Softball was great. I can remember one rainy day when the team went in to watch a video. Allison and I decided to sneak out the back door fo the mini auditorium for a donut run and return before the movie ended, so no one would notice that we were ever gone. Unfortunately, for us, we didn't make it back in time. Coach Jones had no sympathy for us at all, and we had to pay the consequences of running bases.

As a senior I was involved with volleyball and DECA. Among other things DECA involves holding a job.

To all you Warriors out there, my advice to you is to get involved with as many school activities as possible, overall I can honestly say my years at Westwood have been the funnest years of my life. Good luck Westwood!

Looking back, it's as though yesterday I was a frightened sophie entering the mad rush of high school life. The lunchtime ritual of seeking a ride became dull quickly, but it was worth avoiding the Chieftain Chow Palace, at all costs. I sepent my year trying not to trip on the sidewalk and dodging the upperclassmen's ridicule. I could not wait to be a junior.

My junior year was full of changes, and a multitude of hard work. Classes got harder, and teachers became ruthless, but help from my high school sweetie, Kent, made it all worthwhile! Little things, like blowing up balloons for Sadie Hawkins four hours before it started, helped get me involved in activities. I'll never forget the bagel and cream-cheese lunches on the wall, and K.C. dressed as cupid delivering my Valentines Day bouquet. As a member of the Westwood Honor choir I shared many good times trying to find the right trailer park and singing at Houlihans and Butch O'Leary's. Remember guys?

Finally, the year I have been looking forward to since fourth grade finally came, my senior year. Attending all the football games was my top priority this year. I'm glad our team was the best; it made the year so much better. Remember J.K. with her pan and spoon at the "noisy" Mt. View game? I will sure miss my physics and chemistry pals who shared the lunch time laughs while rushing to complete last evenings assignment. Hey S.A., what am I? My awesome aerobic buddies, Holly, Janene, and Jenny have so much energy to endure an hour of "Suzy the aerobic queen," and our best buddy Jane. Hey Ang, I'll come back and answers next years lucky guy too, okay? People say that these are some of the best years of your life, and I know that they have certainly been the best of mine so far. Don't let the time go by without you. Get involved and have fun because the time will be gone before you realize it.

It seems like only yesterday that, as a sophie, I had the delightful pleasure of trying to find a ride to lunch every afternoon. Unfortunately, I never had the beneficial experience of eating in the "Chieftain Chow Palace."

Although finding a ride to lunch seemed like a large responsibility as a sophie, I had other rewarding events that made my first year in high school worthwhile. I joined the swim team, found my high school sweetheart - Jeff (better known as Lovey to some of you), and became a member of the Honor choir, and there I stayed as a member, for my entire three years. Many lasting friendships have developed in choir and I've become very close to my choir instructor, Mr. Harris. Without him, my vocal talents would not have developed and I wouldn't have ever made it up on my bright, yellow moon.

By the end of first semester I became a Warriorette. This was so exciting; being involved and attending the football and basketball games to cheer our guys on to victory. Much love and thanks goes out to Mrs. Sturdevant for all of her time and help. We all love her very much.

My junior year was somewhat unique. I met Mrs. T. remember Mark? What a semester!! I'll never forget how much she loved us! Oh, and Debbie, remember our bus ride to Tucson and our breakin' song? Waka - Waka - Waka! Hey Nicole, don't forget when we spied on you-know-who - at AMC! Dina - let's go steal the toilet paper out of McDonalds again! Then in February, I met my best friend for life, Kelly Hallett. We are so crazy together! Hey Kel - let's go to frat row and park in the middle of the street with out lights on. Kel, I love Ya! Thanks for being my friend, I'll never forget ya!

Well, I'm finally a senior and my fun-filled years are coming to a close. I'll miss roaming the halls with Smotherman, going on third hour donut runs with Tom, and staying up all night working on our float. The Warrior class of '86 is definitely the best. The close friendships we developed will last a lifetime. Thanks to the class of '86 for making my high school years the best ever. Good luck to all!

Three years at Westwood is a long time, but now, in our senior year, the final stretch to graduation and "adulthood," we wonder how the time flew so quickly. We must have been having a lot of fun!

Two of our three years were spent performing editorial duties for Westwood's yearbook, the Chieftain. Our first year was a beneficial learning experience as four new editors learned the ropes. This year, though we leadership responsibilities we had to depend on and trust one another, growing close in our partnership and friendship. We worked hard but nothing would have been accomplished without Mr. John Donovan's continuous encouragement, knowledge, and splendid sense of humor. He was our teacher, our mentor, and our friend. We'll never forget him!

Friends, teachers, staff — Thank you and goodbye.

Kristin McGrath

During our past three years at Westwood we have been involved in many activities. One of our favorites and most time-consuming was producing the Chieftain yearbook. Putting together a book of memories takes a great deal of time and effort in which the help of a talented and dedicated staff proved invaluable.

Our staff was a combination of experienced veterans and eager newcomers. The three twits, Sharon, Melissa and Luz returned, bringing with them yet another twit, Lisa. These four contributed immensely with their top secret mission to Ford's Studio. Thanks to Dana, our head photographer, for her numerous hours spent in the darkroom. This yearbook could not have been completed without her help. Thanks also go to the assistant photographers, Renee, Dana and Karen, for producing quality pictures on short notice. Thanks to Janelle and Joe for their brief but informative anatomy lessons. Thanks to Riesa for her unique detective ability in locating addresses of previous warriorettes. Thanks to Sammi and Tiffani for always being prompt and willing to index. Thanks to Debbie and Susan for their excellent, on time copy. A special "thank you" goes to Robert for putting up with the intense pressures of an all girl staff. We know you loved it! Good luck to next year's editors: Kim, Anne, Deborah and Jana. With your combined talent, next year's annual should be a success.

Our biggest thanks, of course, goes to our advisor and friend, Mr. John Donovan. Our conferences in the hall may have looked like "nap-time" but actually Donovan was teaching us valuable lessons about people and life in general.

We have enjoyed our years at Westwood and will remember them with happiness.
